Culinary Berlin – Sterling quality ensured by two Michelin stars

Berlin offers culinary highlights that nearly no other major city can compete with.

Our gourmet offer is perfect for anyone who wants to be ensured two amazing evenings during their visit to the German capital. Let the Hotel Palace introduce you to two remarkable dining experiences: Your first evening takes you to “Weinbar Rutz” where inventive epicurean Marco Müller will treat you to an unforgettable special five-course meal. His right-hand man is the Weinbar's sommelier, Billy Wagner, whose expert wine consultation will send your taste buds soaring. The modern restaurant was awarded with one Michelin star and 16 points by Gault Millau.

On the next night of your Berlin gateway, the first floor's star-rated chef Matthias Buchholz uses herbs and extratracts to breathe new life into traditional French cuisine. The “first floor” is one of Berlin's best gourmet restaurants, was awarded with 18 points by Gault Millau and has been a Michelin-star recipient for more than ten consecutive years. The icing on the cake of this feast for the senses is provided by maître Jerk Riese and the expertise of head sommelier Gunnar Tietz (Sommelier of the year in 2008, Schlemmer Atlas).
